MAUDE FRAZIER MOUNTAIN

JULY 18, 2018.—Referred to the House Calendar and ordered to be printed

Mr. BISHOP of Utah, from the Committee on Natural Resources, submitted the following

REPORT

[To accompany H.R. 577]

[Including cost estimate of the Congressional Budget Office]

The Committee on Natural Resources, to whom was referred the bill (H.R. 577) to designate a peak in the State of Nevada as Maude Frazier Mountain, having considered the same, report favorably thereon without amendment and recommend that the bill do pass.

PURPOSE OF THE BILL

The purpose of H.R. 577 is to designate a peak in the State of Nevada as Maude Frazier Mountain.

BACKGROUND AND NEED FOR LEGISLATION

Born in 1881, Maude Frazier dedicated her life to education and played a prominent role in the establishment of the University of Nevada, Las Vegas. She was also the first female Lieutenant Governor of Nevada and served in the Nevada Assembly from 1950–1962.¹

Frazier was a teacher, principal, and school superintendent, first in her home State of Wisconsin, and then in Nevada where she moved at age 25. An adventurous spirit, Frazier took a position in 1921 as Deputy Superintendent of 75 schools in four counties, an area that spanned 40,000 square miles and necessitated solo travel over rough and desolate backroads. She served as Superintendent of Las Vegas Union School District for 20 years and saw the district through a significant period of growth and development.²

In 1950 Frazier was elected to the Nevada State Assembly and was instrumental in getting appropriations to establish a branch of the State university in Las Vegas, which would become the University of Nevada, Las Vegas. When it was determined that private funds would be required to help buy land for the future college, Frazier spearheaded a grassroots fundraising campaign. In 1956 she turned the first shovelful of dirt at the groundbreaking for construction of the college's first building.³

To commemorate her contributions to the State, H.R. 577 renames the peak called Frenchman Mountain, just east of Las Vegas, Nevada, as "Maude Frazier Mountain".

COMMITTEE ACTION

H.R. 577 was introduced on January 13, 2017, by Congresswoman Dina Titus (D-NV). The bill was referred to the Committee on Natural Resources, and within the Committee to the Subcommittee on Federal Lands. On July 11, 2018, the Natural Resources Committee met to consider the bill. The Subcommittee was discharged by unanimous consent. No amendments were offered and the bill was ordered favorably reported to the House of Representatives by unanimous consent.
