National Wildlife Refuge

Hunting Regulations 2014 – 2015

Fort Niobrara National Wildlife Refuge

Fort Niobrara National Wildlife Refuge (NWR) is 19,131 acres in size and is located along the Niobrara River in north-central Nebraska. The Refuge is a unique and ecologically important component of the National Wildlife Refuge System which encompasses more than 150 million acres and over 550 national wildlife refuges across the United States. Fort Niobrara NWR was established by Executive Order in January, 1912, as a “preserve and breeding ground for native birds.” Its purpose was expanded later that same year to include the preservation of bison and elk herds representative of those that once roamed the Great Plains.

The provisions listed below supplement the general regulations which govern public use on wildlife refuge areas as set forth in Title 50, Code of Federal Regulations. When permitted, hunting is allowed in accordance with applicable State laws unless otherwise listed.

The Refuge allows canoes, kayaks, and float tubes capable of carrying no more than four people on the Niobrara River below Cornell Dam. Boats, canoes, kayaks, etc. are prohibited upstream of Cornell Dam.

Safety

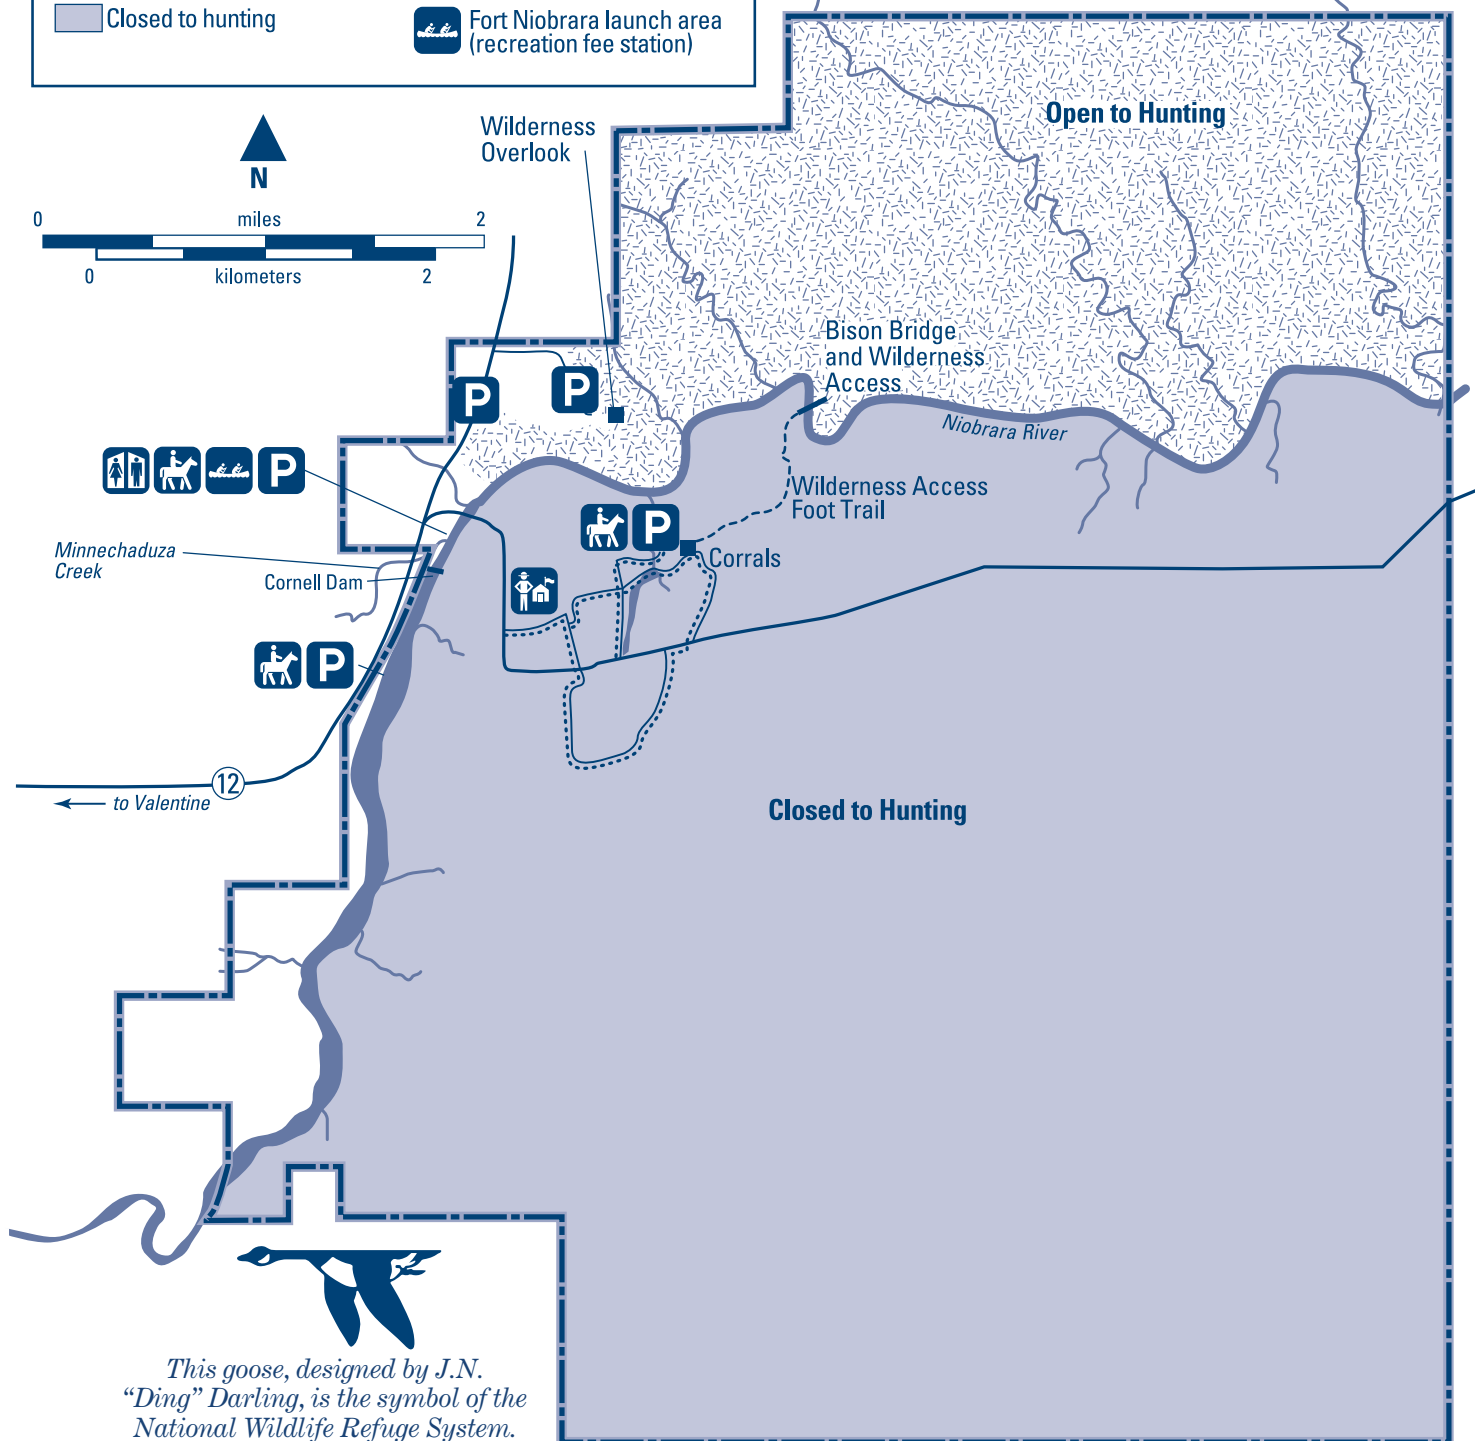

At any time, hunters may encounter bison. Bison can behave in an unpredictable manner, and hunters should use caution when in close proximity to these animals.
