FEDERAL REGISTER PRINTING SAVINGS ACT OF 2017

NOVEMBER 8, 2017.—Ordered to be printed

Mr. JOHNSON, from the Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs, submitted the following

R E P O R T

[To accompany H.R. 195]

[Including cost estimate of the Congressional Budget Office]

The Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs, to which was referred the bill (H.R. 195) to amend title 44, United States Code, to restrict the distribution of free printed copies of the Federal Register to Members of Congress and other officers and employees of the United States, and for other purposes, having considered the same, reports favorably thereon without amendment and recommends that the bill do pass.

I. PURPOSE AND SUMMARY

H.R. 195, the Federal Register Printing Savings Act of 2017, ends daily distribution of the printed Federal Register to Members of Congress or any other office of the United States Government, unless the office specifically requests a subscription. The Act also establishes a maximum subscription length of one year before it would have to be renewed.

II. BACKGROUND AND THE NEED FOR LEGISLATION

The Federal Register was first published in 1936 to ensure Executive Branch actions such as executive orders and regulations were properly recorded and made publicly available.¹ Early editions of the Federal Register were short in length. For example, the first issue was only 16 pages.² According to the Congressional Budget Office, today the average Federal Register is around 300 pages and costs $4.50 to produce and distribute.³

Since June 8, 1994, the Federal Register has been available to the public online.⁴ The online version of the Federal Register is updated daily and has navigational features that make it more user-friendly than the paper copy.⁵

Despite the electronic availability of the digital Federal Register, Federal offices and members of Congress still receive automatic, daily deliveries of physical copies of the Federal Register.⁶

After declaring “no one reads this thing,”⁷ President Obama sought to end automatic printing of the Federal Register.⁸ Although the Obama Administration could not fully do so without legislation, it was successful in reducing the number of Federal agencies that automatically receive the Federal Register by 85 percent.⁹ Congressional action is necessary to cease all automatic printing and distribution of the Federal Register to Government offices. The CBO estimates that doing so would save about one million dollars each year.¹⁰

The Federal Register Printing Savings Act of 2017 would halt the wasteful automatic printing and distribution of the Federal Register to Members of Congress and Government offices. The Act requires offices that want hard copies to actively subscribe to the Federal Register and if they do so, it will be available to them free of charge. The Act also requires the office to renew its subscription each year. This provision ensures that a subscription will not be continually and unnecessary delivered to an office, unless specifically requested.

III. LEGISLATIVE HISTORY

On January 3, 2017, Representative Steve Russell (R-OK) introduced H.R. 195, the Federal Register Printing Savings Act of 2017. H.R. 195 passed the House by voice vote on May 17, 2017.

H.R. 195 was referred to the Senate Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs Committee. The Committee considered H.R. 195 at a business meeting on July 26, 2017. The Act was ordered reported favorably en bloc by voice vote. Senators present for the vote were Johnson, Portman, Lankford, Daines, McCaskill, Tester, Heitkamp, Hassan and Harris.

IV. SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS OF THE ACT, AS REPORTED

Section 1. Short title

This section establishes the short title of the Act as the “Federal Register Printing Savings Act of 2017.”

Sec. 2. Restrictions on distribution of free printed copies of Federal Register to members of Congress and federal employees

Subsection (a) prohibits members of Congress and any office of the United States Government from receiving printed copies of the Federal Register unless they request a copy of a specific issue or opt for a subscription no longer than one year. Subsection (b) establishes an effective date for the amendments made by this Act of January 1, 2018.

V. EVALUATION OF REGULATORY IMPACT

Pursuant to the requirements of paragraph 11(b) of rule XXVI of the Standing Rules of the Senate, the Committee has considered the regulatory impact of this Act and determined that the Act will have no regulatory impact within the meaning of the rules. The Committee agrees with the Congressional Budget Office’s statement that the Act contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act (UMRA) and would impose no costs on state, local, or tribal governments.

VI. CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE COST ESTIMATE

AUGUST 4, 2017.

Hon. RON JOHNSON,
Chairman, Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs, U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: The Congressional Budget Office has prepared the enclosed cost estimate for H.R. 195, the Federal Register Printing Savings Act of 2017.

If you wish further details on this estimate, we will be pleased to provide them. The CBO staff contact is Matthew Pickford.

Sincerely,

KEITH HALL.

Enclosure.

H.R. 195—Federal Register Printing Savings Act of 2017

H.R. 195 would amend federal law to prohibit the Government Publishing Office (GPO) from furnishing a printed copy of the Federal Register without charge to a Member of Congress or any employee of the U.S. government unless specifically requested. The Federal Register compiles and organizes thousands of rules, regulations, executive orders, presidential documents, and notices generated by federal departments and agencies.

Using information from the National Archives and Records Administration and GPO, CBO expects that implementing the bill would end the distribution of about 1,000 copies of the Federal Register that are distributed daily for free. The average Federal Register has 300 pages and costs $4.50 to produce and distribute. CBO estimates that eliminating those free copies of the Federal Register would reduce spending that is subject to appropriation by $1 million annually. Enacting the legislation would not affect direct spending or revenues; therefore, pay-as-you-go procedures do not apply.

CBO estimates that enacting H.R. 195 would not increase direct spending or on-budget deficits in any of the four consecutive 10-year periods beginning in 2028.

H.R. 195 contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act and would impose no costs on state, local, or tribal governments.

On February 22, 2017, CBO transmitted a cost estimate for H.R. 195 as ordered reported by the House Committee on Oversight and Government Reform on February 14, 2017. The two versions of legislation are identical, and CBO's estimates of the budgetary effects are the same.

The CBO staff contact for this estimate is Matthew Pickford. The estimate was approved by H. Samuel Papenfuss, Deputy Assistant Director for Budget Analysis.

VII. CHANGES IN EXISTING LAW MADE BY THE ACT, AS REPORTED

In compliance with paragraph 12 of rule XXVI of the Standing Rules of the Senate, changes in existing law made by the bill, as reported, are shown as follows (existing law proposed to be omitted is enclosed in brackets, new matter is printed in italic, and existing law in which no change is proposed is shown in roman):
