Strike all after the enacting clause and insert the following:

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “Housing is Infrastructure Act of 2020”.

SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

The Congress finds the following:

(1) Affordable housing is a critical part of the national infrastructure of the United States but there is a severe shortage of affordable housing in the United States and the existing stock is badly in need of repair.

(2) According to a 2010 study sponsored by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, there was a $26 billion backlog of capital needs for public housing; that figure is likely higher today, with some groups estimating the backlog of capital needs for public housing to be as high as $70 billion.

(3) There are 14,000 units supported by Rural Rental Housing Loans under section 515 of the Housing Act of 1949 and Farm Labor Housing Loans under section 514 of the Housing Act of 1949. According to National Rural Housing Coalition, it would take an estimated $1 billion in the Multi-Family Housing Revitalization Demonstration Program (MPR) funding to fully address the capital backlog for rural housing properties.

(4) Federal investment in housing helps to create jobs and stimulate the economy.

(5) When the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 (Public Law 111–5) was enacted, which included funding for public housing, researchers found that for each $1.00 in direct spending on public housing, there was an additional $2.12 of indirect and induced economic activity nationwide for a total economic impact of $3.12 for each $1.00 in direct spending on public housing.

(6) According to the National Association of Home Builders, building 100 affordable rental homes generates $11.7 million in local income, $2,200,000 in taxes and revenue for local governments, and 161 local jobs.

(7) Researchers estimate that the growth in the gross domestic product from 1964–2009 would have been 13.5 percent higher if families had better access to affordable housing, which in turn could have led to an additional $1.7 trillion increase in income, equivalent to $8,775 in additional wages for each worker.

SEC. 3. PUBLIC HOUSING CAPITAL FUND.

PURPOSE AND SUMMARY

On November 20, 2019, Rep. Maxine Waters introduced H.R. 5187, the “Housing Is Infrastructure Act of 2019,” which would authorize $100 billion in federal investments for the nation’s affordable housing infrastructure, including public housing, supportive housing for seniors and people with disabilities, housing affordable to the lowest-income people, and rural and Native American housing.

BACKGROUND AND NEED FOR LEGISLATION

According to the National Low Income Housing Coalition, nationwide there is a shortage of more than 7 million rental housing units that are affordable and available to the lowest income families.¹ In fact, no state in America has an adequate supply of affordable housing for the lowest income renters. Further, our limited stock of existing affordable housing is aging and in need of repairs. For example, our public housing stock, which houses 1.9 million Americans, has an estimated capital needs backlog of $70 billion.²

Other federally assisted housing is also facing significant capital investment needs that have been exacerbated by decreased federal funding or lack of new federal funding for key programs like the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) program, the Native American Housing Block Grant (NAHGB) program, and the rural Multifamily Housing Preservation and Rehabilitation (MPR) demonstration program. For example, the U.S. Department of Agriculture’s multifamily housing portfolio, which provides much needed affordable rental housing for low income rural residents, has an estimated reserves deficit of $5.6 billion over the next 20 years.³ According to a report from the National Congress of American Indians, of the 60,000 homes being maintained by federal housing assistance programs serving Native Americans, it is estimated that 70 percent, or 42,000 homes are in need of retrofitting (including windows, insulation, efficient furnaces/air, elder/handicap conversion, etc.).⁴

As a result of the lack of investment into the affordable housing infrastructure, many families pay unaffordable rents or live in substandard conditions. Nearly 50 percent of all U.S. renters are cost burdened and spend 30 percent or more of their income on housing.⁵ The share of renter households that were severely rent burdened—spending 50 percent or more of monthly income on rent—increased by 42 percent between 2001 and 2015.⁶ 71 percent, or 7.8

million of the nation's extremely low-income renter households are now severely housing cost-burdened and spend more than half of their incomes on rent and utilities.⁷ Additionally, only one in four households who qualify for federal housing assistance receive it.⁸ According to HUD's most recent report to Congress on "worst case housing needs"—which are defined as households that are very low-income renter households who receive no housing assistance and pay more than 50 percent of their income for rent or live in severely inadequate units—the number of households in the United States experiencing worst case needs was 8.3 million in 2015, up from 7.7 million in 2013 and nearly as many as the record high of 8.5 million in 2011.⁹ Low income American Indians and Alaska Natives face some of the worst housing conditions in the United States with disproportionately high rates of overcrowding and sub-standard housing conditions.¹⁰

H.R. 5187 represents substantial new investment into our affordable housing infrastructure in order to address this ongoing affordable housing crisis. Like roads and bridges, affordable housing is a component of the nation's infrastructure and a long-term asset that helps communities and families by connecting them to resources and opportunities.¹¹ Similar to investments into other infrastructure projects, investments into affordable housing infrastructure generate construction activity and jobs that stimulate the economy.¹² For example, according to the National Association of Home Builders, building 100 affordable rental homes generates 297 jobs, $28 million in wages and business income, and $11 million in taxes and revenue for state, local, and federal governments.¹³ According to the Council of Large Public Housing Authorities (CLPHA), every $1 million spent on capital investments into public housing generates $1.89 million in economic activity and supports 11 full-time jobs.¹⁴ Further, similar to disinvestment in other infrastructure, disinvestment in affordable housing infrastructure can hamper economic growth.¹⁵ For example, one study found that the shortage of affordable housing in major metropolitan areas costs the American economy about $2 trillion a year in lower wages and productivity.¹⁶ Another study estimated that the growth in GDP between 1964 and 2009 would have been 13.5 percent higher if families had better access to affordable housing, and¹⁷ would have led to a $1.7 trillion increase in total income, or $8,775 in additional wages per worker.¹⁸

H.R. 5187 would authorize the following investments into our affordable housing infrastructure:

- $70 billion to fully address the public housing capital backlog;¹⁹
- $1 billion to fully fund the backlog of capital needs for the Section 515 and 514 rural housing stock;²⁰
- $1 billion to support mitigation efforts that can protect communities from future disasters and reduce post-disaster federal spending;²¹
- $5 billion for the Housing Trust Fund to support the creation of new units of housing that would be affordable to the lowest income households;²²
- $100 million to help low income elderly households in rural areas age in place;
- $1 billion for the Native American Housing Block Grant Program to address substandard housing conditions on tribal lands;²³
- $10 billion for a CDBG set-aside to incentivize states and cities to eliminate impact fees and responsibly streamline the process for development of affordable housing;²⁴
- $5 billion for the HOME Investment Partnership Program to fund affordable housing activities such as building, buying, and rehabilitating affordable homes for low-income people;²⁵
- $2.5 billion for the Supporting Housing for Elderly (Section 202 Program);²⁶
- $2.5 billion for Supportive Housing for persons with disabilities (811 Program); and²⁷
- $2.5 billion to the Capital Magnet Fund for competitive grants to Community Development Financial Institutions to fi-

¹⁹Public Housing Authority Directors Association, “The Advocate,” Spring 2019.

²⁰The National Rural Housing Coalition estimates that it would take $1 billion in Multifamily Housing Preservation & Revitalization (MPR) program funding to fully address the capital backlog for Section 515 and 514 properties, which are USDA-backed affordable multifamily properties.

²¹According to the CBO, every dollar of pre-disaster mitigation spending saves an average of $3.00 in future losses. Since the 2017 hurricane season, Congress has provided more than $25 billion in CDBG-DR funding to help people recover their losses and rebuild after natural disasters.

²²FSC staff estimate that $5 billion in new funding for the HTF would result in nearly 60,000 new units.

²³According to a report from the National Congress of American Indians, the Indian Housing Block Grant Program (IHBG) would have received nearly $1 billion if funding had it kept pace with inflation since 1996.

²⁴According to the CDBG Coalition, every $1.00 of CDBG funding leverages another $4.09 in public and private funding. The CDBG set-aside funding in the bill includes new incentives that would help reduce the regulatory barriers and cost in producing affordable housing beyond the units that are directly funded by this bill. This responds to research from the National Home Builders Association, regulations account for 30 percent of the cost for the development of multifamily housing.

²⁵According to the HOME Coalition, every $1 of HOME leverages $4.38 in additional investments. FSC staff estimate that $5 billion in new HOME funds would produce 136,653 new affordable housing units.

²⁶According to a 2019 report from the Harvard Joint Center for Housing Studies, the number of cost-burdened households age 65 and over grew to a new high of nearly 10 million in 2017, an increase of 200,000 households from the year before. About half of these households are severely cost burdened, meaning they are spending more than 50 percent of their income on rent. However, only one in three seniors who are eligible for housing assistance receive it. FSC staff estimate that $2.5 billion in new funds for the Section 202 Program would produce an additional new 54,850 units.

²⁷According to the Technical Assistance Collaborative, nearly five million non-elderly adults with significant and long-term disabilities have Supplemental Security Income levels equal to only 20% of AMI and cannot afford housing in the community without federal housing assistance. FSC staff estimate that $2.5 billion in new Section 811 funds would produce 27,000 new units.

The bill would

- Authorize the appropriation of funds for housing and community development programs

Estimated budgetary effects would primarily stem from

- Spending of appropriations authorized for existing housing programs

Areas of significant uncertainty include

- Predicting the types of activities that grantees would carry out with the authorized funds
- Estimating the pace at which housing providers would renovate, build, or acquire housing

Bill summary: H.R. 5187 would authorize the appropriation of $100.6 billion for fiscal year 2021 for housing and community development programs. In addition, the bill would authorize the appropriation of whatever amounts are necessary for capital and operating subsidies for new housing, which CBO estimates would total $855 million over the 2021–2025 period. CBO estimates that H.R. 5187 would authorize appropriations totaling $100.7 billion in 2021 and $101.5 billion over the 2021–2025 period. The Congress appropriated $20.8 billion for those programs in 2020.

The amounts specifically authorized by the bill for housing and community development programs include:

- $70 billion for the Public Housing Capital Fund to improve, finance, or construct public housing;
- $10 billion for the Community Development Block Grant Program to construct and maintain affordable housing, support changes to zoning requirements, and support transportation infrastructure projects;
- $5 billion for the Housing Trust Fund to construct or repair housing that is affordable for low-income households;
- $5 billion for the HOME Investment Partnerships program to build, buy, or rehabilitate housing, or to provide rental assistance for low-income households;
- $2.5 billion for the Supportive Housing for Persons with Disabilities program to provide rental subsidies to property owners who make housing and supportive services available to low-income people with disabilities;

- $2.5 billion for the Supportive Housing for the Elderly program to fund housing and supportive services for low-income elderly people;
- $2.5 billion for the Capital Magnet Fund to make grants to financial institutions to incentivize private investment in affordable housing and related economic development activities;
- $1 billion for the Multifamily Preservation and Revitalization Demonstration Program to provide grants and loans to preserve and revitalize multifamily rental housing;
- $1 billion for the Native American Housing Block Grant Program to provide funding for tribes to acquire, construct, rehabilitate, or manage affordable housing for low-income Native American families;
- $1 billion for the Flood Mitigation Assistance Grant Program to reduce the risk of flood damage to communities participating in the National Flood Insurance Program; and
- $100 million for the Department of Agriculture to provide loans or grants to low-income homeowners in rural areas to repair or improve their homes.

Based on historical spending for those activities, CBO estimates that implementing H.R. 5187 would cost $87.8 billion over the 2021–2025 period, assuming appropriation of the estimated and authorized amounts. The remainder of the amounts authorized over that period would be spent after 2025.

Estimated Federal cost: The estimated budgetary effect of H.R. 5187 is shown in Table 1. The costs of the legislation fall within budget functions 450 (community and regional development) and 600 (education, training, employment, and social services).

Estimated Outlays	3,189	19,645	26,948	25,149	12,863	87,794

Basis of estimate: For this estimate, CBO assumes that H.R. 5187 will be enacted near the start of fiscal year 2021 and that the authorized and estimated amounts will be appropriated in each year. Except as noted below, estimated outlays are based on historical spending patterns for each program.

Public Housing Capital Fund: The bill would authorize the appropriation of $70 billion for 2021 to improve, finance, or construct public housing. The Congress appropriated $2.9 billion for that purpose in 2020. Using information from a study by Abt Associates and accounting for capital needs that have accumulated since 2010 and for inflation, CBO expects that about $60 billion of the amount authorized for capital grants would be used to rehabilitate public housing units; the remaining $10 billion would be used to build or acquire new public housing units.

Operating and capital funds for new units: CBO expects that public housing agencies would be eligible to receive funds from the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for operating and capital needs for the new units; those estimated authorizations are shown in Table 1. A study by Abt Associates found that the average cost to develop a unit funded by the Low-Income Housing Tax Credit Program—a program used to develop housing for low- and moderate-income households—was about $182,000 in 2016. After accounting for inflation, CBO estimates that the cost to develop or acquire a public housing unit would be about $230,000 in 2021. CBO expects that public housing agencies would develop the units over a five-year period; therefore, CBO estimates that HUD would provide operating and capital funds for about 8,000 new units in 2021 and a total of 40,000 new units in 2025.

In 2017, outlays for the operating and capital subsidies were $4.3 billion and $1.8 billion, respectively. According to data on public housing households from HUD, about 980,000 households lived in public housing in an average month in the same year. Based on that information and after accounting for inflation, CBO estimates that HUD would provide an operating subsidy of $4,400 and a capital subsidy of $1,800 for each new public housing unit in 2021. CBO estimates that spending subject to appropriation would increase by a total of $607 million and $248 million for operating and capital costs, respectively, over the 2021–2025 period.

Uncertainty: CBO’s estimate of spending for this bill is based on costs and historical spending patterns for similar programs or types of assistance. However, CBO cannot precisely predict the pace of program implementation. Spending under H.R. 5187 could be faster or slower than CBO’s estimate for two reasons:

- Grantees could carry out different activities than they have historically. For example, if a larger share of grantees than expected uses funds to provide rental assistance directly to households or property owners, funds will probably be spent faster than CBO projects.
- Grantees might take longer than expected to renovate, acquire, or build housing. CBO’s estimate reflects the expectation that grantees will renovate public housing, and build new housing, at a pace that is consistent with historical spending patterns. However, if grantees expand their programs more slowly than CBO expects, total spending could be slower.

The cost of implementing the bill could be higher or lower than CBO estimates depending on the number of units that grantees build or acquire using funds authorized in the bill.

Pay-As-You-Go considerations: None.

Increase in long-term deficits: None.

Mandates: None.

Estimate prepared by: Federal costs: Elizabeth Cove Delisle (housing assistance provisions), Jon Sperl (community development provisions); Mandates: Rachel Austin.

Estimate reviewed by: Sheila Dacey, Chief, Income Security and Education Cost Estimates Unit; H. Samuel Papenfuss, Deputy Director of Budget Analysis; Theresa Gullo, Director of Budget Analysis.

COMMITTEE COST ESTIMATE

Clause 3(d)(1) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives requires an estimate and a comparison of the costs that would be incurred in carrying out H.R. 5187. However, clause 3(d)(2)(B) of that rule provides that this requirement does not apply when the committee has included in its report a timely submitted cost estimate of the bill prepared by the Director of the Congressional Budget Office under section 402 of the Congressional Budget Act.

UNFUNDED MANDATE STATEMENT

Pursuant to Section 423 of the Congressional Budget and Impoundment Control Act (as amended by Section 101(a)(2) of the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act, Pub. L. 104–4), the Committee adopts as its own the estimate of federal mandates regarding H.R. 5187, as amended, prepared by the Director of the Congressional Budget Office.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE

No advisory committees within the meaning of section 5(b) of the Federal Advisory Committee Act were created by this legislation

APPLICATION OF LAW TO THE LEGISLATIVE BRANCH

Pursuant to section 102(b)(3) of the Congressional Accountability Act, Pub. L. No. 104-1, H.R. 5187, as amended, does not apply to terms and conditions of employment or to access to public services or accommodations within the legislative branch.

EARMARK STATEMENT

In accordance with clause 9 of rule XXI of the Rules of the House of Representatives, H.R. 5187 does not contain any congressional earmarks, limited tax benefits, or limited tariff benefits as described in clauses 9(e), 9(f), and 9(g) of rule XXI.

DUPLICATION OF FEDERAL PROGRAMS

Pursuant to clause 3(c)(5) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives, the Committee states that no provision of H.R. 5187 establishes or reauthorizes a program of the Federal Government known to be duplicative of another federal program, a program that was included in any report from the Government Accountability Office to Congress pursuant to section 21 of Public Law 111-139, or a program related to a program identified in the most recent Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance.

MINORITY VIEWS

Democrats want to throw hundreds of billions of dollars at outdated and ineffective public housing programs, while Republicans believe modernizing and improving these programs will be necessary to address Americans' housing needs.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development's (HUD) public housing programs require significant reforms to strengthen America's housing supply. Committee Republicans want to bring HUD's programs into the 21st century to help households move toward a model of opportunity and self-sufficiency, instead of keeping low-income families in areas of concentrated poverty.

Democrats' H.R. 5187 authorizes approximately $100 billion but fails to modernize any of the housing programs—trapping struggling Americans in outdated low-income housing programs. The COVID-19 pandemic has only proven the inefficiency of these programs as millions of families struggle with housing insecurity, unsafe conditions, and even homelessness.

HUD's housing programs should be modernized with proven solutions. Republicans offered three commonsense amendments during Committee markup that would have addressed the shortfalls of H.R. 5187—every amendment was rejected by Democrats:

- Rep. Budd offered an amendment to require states or localities to provide non-federal matching funds to increase the impact and local oversight of these funds. The cost of repairs to aging local housing stock cannot be the responsibility of the federal government alone.
- Rep. Huizenga offered an amendment to stop funds under the bill from going to any housing authority that has committed fraud with federal funds or has used federal funding to violate fair housing laws. Without enhanced oversight and accountability measures, taxpayers are at risk of bailing out the same troubled housing authorities whose mismanagement wasted previous spending. In fact, two of the nation's largest housing authorities—NYCHA and the City of Los Angeles—were each sued by and settled with HUD for fraud, failure to enforce federal laws, and repeated tenant safety violations.
- Rep. Stivers offered an amendment that would increase the utilization of the bipartisan Rental Assistance Demonstration, which injects private capital into public housing.

Each of these amendments would have dramatically improved H.R. 5187 by increasing local accountability and flexibility in how best to meet the 21st century housing needs of individuals.

History has repeatedly shown increasing funding alone will not solve our housing challenges. Republicans remain ready to work on bipartisan reforms to modernize the ineffective and outdated programs of HUD.

For these reasons, Committee Republicans oppose H.R. 5187.
