

REPORT

Of the Committee on Private Land Claims, in the case of Edmund Doyle, with a bill for his relief.

JANUARY 7, 1825.

Read, and, with the bill, committed to a committee of the whole House.

The Committee on Private Land Claims, to whom were referred the petition and documents of Edmund Doyle, have considered the same, and

REPORT:

This claim being, in all respects, similar to that of William Hambly, the committee think it unnecessary to make a detailed report. It may, however, be proper to say, that Doyle, after he lost his first improvement, made a new one, to secure which, with 640 acres of land, a bill is, herewith, reported.
