

EZEKIEL JONES.

---

JANUARY 4, 1838.

Read, and ordered to lie on the table.

---

MR. SHERROD WILLIAMS, from the Committee on Invalid Pensions, made the following

REPORT:

The Committee on Invalid Pensions, to whom was referred the petition of Ezekiel Jones, report:

Without determining, from the proof and petition in this case, whether or not the petitioner is disabled, the committee are of opinion that a pension ought not to be allowed, because it appears from the facts in the case that the petitioner is yet a commanding and acting captain in the United States revenue service, in which service he was (he alleges) at the time he received the wound set forth in his petition.

The committee are unwilling and disinclined (if he were otherwise entitled to it) to allow him a pension as an invalid, whilst he continues to be a captain in the service, and consequently draws his pay as such.

EXERKIEL JONES

JANUARY 4, 1898.

Read, and ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. SHERBURN WILLIAMS, from the Committee on Invalid Pensions, made the following

REPORT:

The Committee on Invalid Pensions, to whom was referred the petition of Exerkiel Jones, report:

Without determining from the proof and petition in this case, whether or not the petitioner is disabled, the committee are of opinion that a pension ought not to be allowed, because it appears from the facts in the case that the petitioner is yet a commanding and acting captain in the United States reserve service, in which service he was (he alleges) at the time he received the wound set forth in his petition. The committee are unwilling and disinclined (if he were otherwise entitled to it) to allow him a pension as an invalid, whilst he continues to be a captain in the service, and consequently draws his pay as such.

THOMAS ALLEN, CLERK.
