

NATIONAL BANK—COLLECTION OF THE REVENUE, &c.

FEBRUARY 19, 1838.

Read ; debate arising, laid upon the table under the rule.

RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. ROBERTSON submitted the following resolutions :

1. Resolved, That Congress possesses no power, under the constitution, to establish a national bank.

2. Resolved, That provision ought to be made by law for the due collection and administration of the public revenue.

3. Resolved, That, for the purpose of carrying into effect the foregoing resolution, the Committee of Ways and Means be, and they are hereby, instructed to report, with all convenient despatch, a bill, as far as practicable diminishing the power and patronage of the Executive department, and asserting the proper authority and control of Congress, in reference to the collection, custody, and disbursement of the revenue ; avoiding all connexion, pecuniary and political, between the Government and banking institutions, and especially prohibiting the latter from using such public deposits as may be made therein, directly or indirectly, as the basis of discounts, or otherwise, for their own benefit ; and preventing, in future, the accumulation, or where that cannot be effected, providing for the speedy reduction, of any surplus in the Treasury beyond its reasonable wants.

NATIONAL BANK—COLLECTION OF THE REVENUE, &c.

FEBRUARY 10, 1883.

Read; debate arising, laid upon the table under the rule.

RESOLUTIONS

Mr. ROBERTSON submitted the following resolutions:

1. Resolved, That Congress possesses no power, under the constitution, to establish a national bank.
2. Resolved, That provision ought to be made by law for the collection and administration of the public revenue.
3. Resolved, That for the purpose of carrying into effect the foregoing resolution, the Committee of Ways and Means be, and they are hereby instructed to report, with all convenient dispatch, a bill, as far as practicable diminishing the power and patronage of the Executive department, and asserting the proper authority and control of Congress, in reference to the collection, custody, and disbursement of the revenue; avoiding all connection, pecuniary and political, between the Government and banking institutions, and especially prohibiting the latter from using such public deposits as may be made therein, directly or indirectly, as the basis of discounts, or otherwise, for their own benefit; and providing, in future, the accumulation, or where that cannot be effected, providing for the speedy reduction, of any surplus in the Treasury beyond its reasonable wants.